To The Editor of THE BRUIN:

Thanks for the photographs. I enjoyed seeing all of them, and my choices of the three most beautiful are as follows:

1. Marilyn Young
2. Ann Covey
3. Janice Origer

It has been a real pleasure to judge your beauties this year. Thanks for asking me to.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

Jon Whitcomb

Senior Prophecy '53

In 1963 after ten long years of Republican presidents, I was curled up on a park bench, cold and hungry, when I fell asleep and dreamed that my chauffeur had just driven me to the door of the luxurious hotel, Brumley's Beds—25c, where the doorman, John Eadie, helped me from my car. I registered at the desk where Mary Ann Walker was the night clerk. On the way up to my room the bellhop, Charlie Efurd, told me that the 1953 senior class of FSHS was having its reunion there.

Later in the dining room I saw Mary Lou Hillhouse, TV vocalist, and Birney Marquis, author of "I Speak for Democrats" seated at a corner table. On the other side of the room Coach Don McGuire and his basketball quintet were devouring shrimp cocktails.

Johnny Adams and his Coronetists furnished the music for the affair. He had as his guests, Vic Damone and Marilyn.

Barbara Barber and her "Happy Hula Girls" presented the entertainment.

The fabulous million-dollar decorations (left over from the senior banquet of '53) were arranged(?) by Randall Ross and Dana Gibson.

All the ladies' gowns at the ball were from Ye Ole Dress Shoppe, operated by Mme. Barbara Gray and Shirley Richards.

The seniors who had forgotten how to dance since 1953 were entertained in Railey's Roulette across the hall.

Kay Haynes, our dainty little bride-to-be, attended the affair with her prospective victim. We will mention no names.

Curtis Krock, famed surgeon, showed everyone he was not too old "to cut the mustard" (assisted by Shirley Wolfe).

Frances Jaggars and Rose Ann Hill returned from Africa after ten years of missionary service especially for the reunion.

Don Callaway made everybody happy by making all the checks disappear.

About this time, the gruff voice of Policeman Charles Craig said, "Move along, buddy, this ain't no place to park," and the dream was over.

Senior Class Will '53

We, the senior class of 1953, being of fairly sound mind, wish to bequeath our few remaining possessions to the juniors and the sophomores.

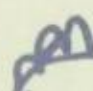

TD Meek leaves his football shoes with the built-in roller skates to Don Decamp.

Anne Simpson assigns her know-how of tickling the ivories to Betty Reed and Polly Hays.

Gordie Payne bequeaths her bottle of hydrogen peroxide to Susie Slates if she wants it.

Georgia Hall departs leaving that Ipana smile to Brooxine Binns.

Bobby Gattis leaves his looks to Willard Clay. Lucky boy!

 Beverly Ketchum endows her ability to charm the male heart to her little sister, Barbara.

George Miller leaves his flaming locks to Jimmie Blanche Fitzgerald.

The '52 Grizzly football team leaves a large economy size bottle of atomic powered pills to the scrimmagers of next year.

Janice Origer, after long meditation, announced that she is too fond of the title "so round, so firm, so fully packed" to pass it on.

J. D. Lester, Larry Wood, Johnny Adams, Bobby Gattis, and David Brumley depart leaving their cheerleading skirts to anyone who can fill them.

James Llewellyn leaves his tracks on the cinders.

Nancy Wells bequeaths those tumbles to Pat Yandell.

Bill Wilson leaves his number to Howard Sengal.

Buddy McGruder leaves MacBeth and Senior English to any loyal strong-hearted junior.

Ann Kuykendall leaves her good hearing and lapse of memory to Larry Randolph.

Kay Haynes leaves those letters from U of A delivered by Postman Farnsworth to Patsy Bailey.

Joy takes Joyce and Joyce takes Joy. They leave nothing, thank heavens!

Jeanne Shine leaves her angelic look to Linda Krone.

Jimmy Bennett has decided he can spare a few extra inches for John Luce who needs them.

Bill Dooly is the recipient of Jerry Carson's career as drum major.

Nancy Weber leaves her shyness to Linda Gammill.

Phanita pitches those high steps and her baton to Martha Lumbert.

The last of the Rosses leaves the Bruin and a fond (?) memory of the clan in the hearts of the teachers.

Don McGuire, Charles Efurd, Donald Spradling and Charles Northum aren't breaking up their barber shop quartet.

Shirley Bounds and Charles Craig have Sandra and Sam to take their places.

We hope the above mentioned will be serviceable to their heirs!
